

Technology First, in partnership with the Dayton Wright Chapter of AFCEA, is pleased to announce the 10th annual Taste of IT!

Wednesday, 16 November 2016 – 7:30 to 5:00 PM at the Sinclair Community College Ponitz Center

200+Attendees, 45+ exhibitors, industry knowledgeable speakers for 20+ educational sessions

Breakfast Keynote Speaker: Dr. Morley Stone, Chief Technology Officer for Air Force Research Laboratory. Topic: Autonomous Systems. AFRL is charged with the mission of leading the discovery, development, and integration of affordable warfighting technologies for US Air Force air, space, and cyberspace forces. Some AFRL technologies are unique to military applications, but in most cases the Air Force seeks to collaborate with industry and leverage commercial technologies-this is especially true in the cyber and information technology sciences. Dr. Stone will discuss how AFRL is partnering with commercial firms to advance technologies related to autonomous systems and other IT capabilities.

Breakout Sessions include: Sleeper Cell: Unleashing the Power of Mobile, Tired of Being the Villain to Your Business Teams? Learn How to Become an IT Superhero, The CIOs Role in Responding to Employee Data Theft, True North Testing: Keep Your Software Projects On Course With a Metrics-Based Methodology, The Future of the Business of IT - Looking Forward with IT4IT, Intelligent Power in the Modern Data Center, Agile: A 12 Step Program, The Explosive Bandwidth Consumption Trends - Innovative Solutions that are Empowering Organizations, Digital Readiness: Is Your Organization Adaptable?, Anatomy of Ransomware, Protecting Data at all Levels with SimpliVity HyperConvergence.

Poster Board Presentations by AFIT Personnel/Students, Trade Show and more! Don't Miss it!
